1. The First Hungarian Agricultural Machinery Factory (EMAG) at Budafok ut, Budapest has ceased manufacturing military materiel. The factory produced about 5-6,000 shell and handgrenade casings per month. About 35-40 workers were transferred to Sajóabony.
2. The factory is now producing agricultural machinery only, mainly harvest combines for export. January 1954 production figures were 40-45 machines.
3. A finished combine is despatched to the tractor station under the care of a mechanic. Since the beginning of January 1954, young workers have been given a special 6-8 week course in the factory and then despatched with the machines as combine driver/mechanics.
